DYING IN A LIME-KILN

James Evans is the Victim of Some Super-Official Charity.

MERCY HOSPITAL TAKES HIM IN.

Chief Brown Shows the Necessity for an Emergency Respital.

CORONER M'DOWELL BEARS HIM OUT

The police authorities were notified yes terday morning that a man was very sick at Robinson's lime kilns on Second avenue. The patrol wagon was sent for the sufferer, and he was taken to No. 1 police station. His name was found to be James Evans. He is about 27 years of age, an Englishman, and a perfect stranger in the country. He was suffering from a case of most malignant diphtheria.

Dr. Meyer, the acting police surgeon, was | Col. Quny Drops Into Pittaburg for a Few called and he tried to get the unfortunate sufferer placed in some hospital. He was in the Central station hospital rooms, where lost children are brought in every hour, especially at this season of the year, and the police officials wished to place him where he could be cared for. Hospital after hospital was tried, and Dr. Mayer gritted his teeth as he chewed the red ape which was recled to him over the wire. Finally, the question was solved by Mercy Hospital taking the case in and giving an oportunity to Pittsburg charities to reconsider heir ways of doing business.

the weather and to hunger, in fact, and climbed nto the space above the kilns for warmth, if nothing else. He comes from Aberdeen, Scotland, and has been in the country not more than a year. The Mercy Hospital doctors see but little hope for his recovery on account both of his exposure and the peculiar nature of his disease. They look with a good deal of placidis this exposure and the peculiar nature of his lisease. They look with a good deal of placidity to being again, as in the case of Margaret McGranii, accused of having turned someone out. When the investigation at the morgue is concluded, in the language of Coroner McDowell, there will be discovered the necessity of a municipal or general hospital for such uses.

Cline Brown, of the Public Safety Department, is thoroughly in accord with the Coroner on this subject. He said that one of the principal objects he had in view in establishing a central station on some roomy ground was to meet just such centingencies. He thought a bospital department could be dethered from contagions diseases, and the patrol wagon knows no law except that of the main at the City Hall station and the one at the lines. He thought to make, as now necessity compels, the Central station into a sort of general pathological postofice, into which is dumped anything from scarlet fever to a drunk, is not the right way of doing business. It is unfortunate that in such a post-official arrangement a post mortem inofficial arrangement a post mortem in-arion is liable to follow, as the disease a post-official arrangement vestigation is liable to follow, as the disease may not be properly directed in the first place or stamped by the first alleged medical man who finus it. It was absolutely necessary, he thought, to have a hospital for the cases which are brought in, and the sooner it was done the better.

Around the city a good deal of comment was made on the refusal of the different hospitals to take in the patient, as well as on the people who let a poor unfortunate man stay for days in a line kiln for warmth and without food.

The fact that State appropriations are made for the benefit of some of these institutions, while the one that took the wanderer in was without such aid was freely spoken of, and while the one that took the wanderer in was without such aid was freely spoken of, and Mercy Hospital was praised both in the police stations and on the street, while the question opened was. "What shall be done with the pauper aick?" They have no friends, or if they have are too poor to render aid to those in distress, and the city as well as the county officials are anxious to have a hospital where emergency cases can be placed without recourse to red-tape proceedings.

A Rumored Downtown Real Estate Deal Sat Down Upon.

The usual report that a mammoth building to be crected at the corner of Liberty and Sixth streets cropped out yesterday afternoon, and is denied, this time by the proprietors of the Hotel Anderson. They say that the property extending from their hotel to Liberty has been in the market for years, but a legal delay and fabor prices have forbidden a sale. They deny authoritatively that the top floors of the supposed building are to be occupied by them, or that they know anything whatever about it.

MOVING DAY CHANGED.

Twenty Renl Estate Agents Decide to Date Leason from May 1. The real estate agents and landlords met yes terday morning at 19 o'clook in the Chamber o Commerce, to further discuss the proposed change of moving day from April 1 to May 1. Thos. A. Leggate, of Allegheny, presided, and stated the objects of the meeting. Several speeches were made favoring the change.

D. C. Martin said he was in favor of abolishing moving day alterative, and offered a range.

D. C. Martin said he was in favor of abolishing moving day altogother, and offered a resolution that property he reuted by the month, quarter or year, leases to date from any day.

The resolution was discussed at some length and filed for action at a subsequent meeting. L. Gloninger, the Secretary, said he thought it was time for the meeting to get down to business. He then presented a substitute for Mr. Martin's resolution, that those present in favor of the change pledge themselves by signing a paper to that effect.

This paper met with approval and was signed by about 20 agents. Mr. Martin then moved that the real estate men organize permanently. The motion passed and an organization committee was appointed, consisting of Mr. Martin, T. G. Van Gordor and W. M. Harer, with instructions to report the progress made at a future meeting.

A SENATOR'S CHRISTMAS.

Minutes to Look Around. Senator M. S. Quay arrived in the city yes terday forenoon at 10 o'clock, coming from Beaver, where he and his family are passing the Christmas season. He was seen by a DIS-PATCH reporter, with whom he exchanged the compilments of the season, but he said that he was not talking politically. He said that what had happened recently in political affairs spoke more eloquently than he could in that directions. more eloquently than he could in that direction. He bore evidence of being at peace with

According to Meanor's story the two had some words and Loughry dealt him (Meanor) a blow on the noise and said nose was very much the worse therefor, subsequently occupying a great deal of space on the prosecutor's face. It was dark when the difficulty took place and after Meanor had gotten some distance away he alleges that a pistol shot was fired. Alderman O'Donnell fixed bail at $500 on each charge and it was furnished by J. G. Weir. Meanor was once a constable in Loughry's bailiwick.

ON WITH THE GOOD WORK.

The Humane Society After Cruelty Cases and Dog Righters. Humane Agent O'Brieu has again called the attention of Superintendent Starr, of the Ft Wayne Railroad, that the charges that cars containing live stock are unnecessarily delayed between Alliance and Pittsburg.

At a meeting yesterday, Mr. O'Brien stated he had watched the unloading of a certain de-layed train. Many animals were either dead or injured. The society's lawyer will be con-suited. In regard to the dog fighters, a postponement of the hearing was made until to-morrow. The agent claimed his witnesses were hampered by intimidation, and the society passed a reso-lution asking all informations be taken from Alderman Foley to court.

COMMENDABLE ENTERPRISE.

BIPEDS OF TWO KINDS. - A Railroad Train Equipped With the New Device for Announcing Stations. Attention has previously been called in these columns to the mechanical device for plainly announcing "next station" on rail-road trains. These ingenious machines are made by the American manufacturing Company, 313 Wood street, and were first ex-bibited at the Exposition in this city last October. The excellence of the apparatus at once recommended it to public favor, its at once recommended it to public favor, its entire superiority to the brakeman's mumbling announcement being very evident. The machine is constructed so that as soon as the passenger train leaves a station a clear bell is rung, drawing the passengers attention to a handsome sign reading "Next station ——." The Pennsylvania Company has equipped a car on the Benver Falls accommodation with these "indicators" which are said to give entire satisfaction to the passengers. If it is decided to tion to the passengers. If it is decided to equip the whole train the "indicators" will be operated by compressed air, and thus the names of next stations be simultaneously displayed in every car on the train. For the sake of ease of mind of travelers it is to be hoped that all trains will soon be provided with this excellent device.

The Newsboys' Home Pautomime The ladies in charge of the pantomime to be held on Thursday and Friday afternoons of this week for the benefit of the Newsboys' Home wish to correct a mistaken impression that has gone abroad, to the effect that all the seats have been sold. This is a mistake, as any intending purchasers may learn by a glance at the box sheet at the Bijou Theater office. Plenty of seats are still left in parquet circle and balcony—much the best location for viewing a pantomime, as a clear and unobstructed line of sight is given.

THE COWARD STILL AT LARGE.

The Perpetrators of Tarestam's Cold-Blooded Murder Cleverly Einde Arrest— A Chief of Police Shot.

The coward who shot Mrs. Paul Rudert at Tarentum is still at large with his miserable accompilees. The town has been simply wild. All stories of the shooting seem to agree that it was one of the coldest blooded affairs that has occurred for years.

After the robbers had smashed in the window

After the robbers had smashed in the window and began to pile the jewelry into satonels, she tried to drag the tray away, when she was deliberately shot down. The funeral will take place on Thursday, and testimony will be taken by the Coroner's jury Saturday.

The man Clark denies any knowledge of the shooting and says his own friends can provs an alibi. Coroner McDowell was busy all night and day sending messages to different points, and the vicinity is so full of detectives it seems impossible for the men to get away.

Chief of Police Donovan, of Braddock, and a posse of men, had a lively chase after two men last night, who were supposed to be the murderers of Mrs. Rudert. The men were discovered walking eastward on the railroad tracks, and the officers gave chase. When the men found they were being followed, they drew their revolvers and began shooting.

The officers returned the shout and a lively skirmish followed for a few minutes. It was reported late last night that Chief Donovan was hit by one of the bullets, but escaped serions injury. He said he was sure the men were the parties wanted. The men were chased all the way to Turtle Creek, where they were lost sigut of.

The Coroner and county detective are ac-the way to Turtle Creek, where they were lost sight of.

The Coroner and county detective are actively engaged working up the case, and have engaged the services of a well known private detective to help them. They expect to uncover the perpetrators of the crime in a day or two. The man who gave the name of Clark, arrested at Tarentum yesterday morning, is said to be Alex. Killen, a man who has quite a record in Pittsburg police circles.

Detectives Eichenlaub and McClure, of Allegheny, went to Tarentum yesterday afternoon to work on the case and about 9 o'clock last night telephoned to Mayor Pearson that they would not return to the city until 8:40 this morning, as they thought they had a clew which would lead to the arrest of the murderers.

Many other gifts were received at the hotel during the day. The singer took great delight in tricking out her Christmas tree in the most fantastic fashion.

TURNS THE TABLES.

Young Man Will Sue for $15,000 for Alleged False Arrest.

James Brady, of Penn avenue, near Thirtieth street, was given a hearing before Alderman Warner on a charge of larceny, it being alleged that he stole $600 from his aged mother. John Moran was the prosecutor. The defendant was discharged, as it was proved that his mother had allowed him to take the money and that every cent of it had been returned.

W. P. Miller, the attorney for the defense, stated that he would enter suit against Moran for $15,000 in a short time, to recover damages for the false arrest and imprisonment of young Brady.

J. W. Metzier, of Leechburg, was attacked by William Carter at the West Penn depot, Allegheny, last night, on account of Mr. Meta-ler's attention to a woman of the First ward. Detectives Murphy and Glenn arrested them in the midst of the fight.

To the Editor of The Dispatch: DEAR SIR-I wish to call your attention, DEAR SIR—I wish to call your attention, also the public's, to the following matter of vital interest to this community. At each new achievement of success the world doubts and questions until overwhelming evidence compels it to believe. The medical fraternity in this city during the past few weeks have been thrown into no little excitement over a claim set forth by Dr. Sturgeon that it is in his power to check the progress of and cure that dreaded disease, typhoid lever, a feat heretofore unheard of in the history of medical science. A son of Mr. J. M. Force, of No. 185 Jackson street, Allegheny, was violently taken with the disease. Dr. H— was called in to see the boy and pronounced the case typhoid fever; he attended the patient about two days, with no improvement on the part of the sufferer. Mr. Force had in some way heard of the successful cures effected by Dr. Sturgeon and summoned him. The doctor diagnosed the case as Dr. H— had done. Both of them pronounced it typhoid fever. Dr. Sturgeon said he could cure the boy in five days, and inside of 60 hours the fever had subsided. In an incredible short time young Force was restored to health. The writer called on Dr. H—— this morning, and, in conversation, the doctor stated that he would give $1,000 in cash for a copy of the formula, proving conclusively his appreciation of the wonderful discovery.

churches and schools know anything of the magnitude of such an undertaking. Over 60,000 volumes will be given away altogether. The distribution is confined to children of no particular denomination, but is common to all. The paster of one of the leading Fifth avenue churches yesterday complimented the Messrs. Kaufmann very highly indeed on their benevotence, and their evident desire that all young people should be happy in the season of happiness. This reverend gentleman also gave some statistics bearing on the mammoth presentation.

"The smallest number of books, 25," he said, "go to the children of the Twenty-second Street Presbyterian mission school, and the largest number to the Webster Street (Cathedra) Convent, which requires 1,200 to go around. The majority of the schools asked for from 300 to 500 each, and old friends in New Quarters.

There is no motive of self-gain in their distribution, and if it was not for the out-spoken joy of the children in telling of their pretty books the public would never know of the generosity that has been manifested by these people. The books were all bought and sent out to the different churches before even an inkling had been given out as to what was going on in their emporium. Kaufmanus' secret has leaked out; every boy and girl one meets is talking about the nice book they are going to get on Christmas. Letters of thanks are pouring in upon them from they are going to get on Christmas. Letters of thanks are pouring in upon them from every quarter, and if the blessings of thousands of men, women and children count for aught surely Kaufmanns must be fully repaid for the outlay of money, large as it may have been, when it brings so much happiness. The distribution of books among the children is certainly an achievement worthy of imitation by others, and it is to be hoped that, prompted by the good that has been accomplished, others will follow in the footsteps of such generous men. What more worthy object can money will follow in the footsteps of such generous men. What more worthy object can money be placed to than of giving pleasure to others by the expenditure of a sum, large though it may seem to some, is but a drop in the bucket compared to the fortune that has been smassed by houesty and integrity? It was impossible to obtain a full and complete list of all the churches, mission schools and convents the Kaufmann Brothers supplied with Christmas books, as the firm was opposed to making any public display of the distribution through the columns of the newspapers. They did not propose to make capital out of charity, but from the ministers and superintendents it was learned that at least the following places had been supplied with books for the little ones that were enrolled upon the school record:
